Helen Kane, Boop-a-Doop Girl dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Kane, whose gay little girl's voice made the phrase "boop-a-doop" a part of the legend of the Roaring 20s, died Monday at 62 after a 10-year battle with cancer.

She succumbed at her home in Jackson Heights, Queens, only hours after watching a television revival of "Three Little Words" a movie in which she sang "I want to be loved by you" — her biggest hit.

Dan Healy, her husband, said, "She got a great kick out of hearing her voice coming out loud and clear."

The "boop-a-doop" refrain that Miss Kane made a part of most of her songs had its birth in 1928 when she was appearing at New York's Paramount Theater. She inserted the line at a rehearsal and it was a hit as soon as the public heard it.

"I don't know why I did it," she once told an interviewer. "It just came out like that."

The line and Miss Kane's squawky-voiced gaiety carried her to Hollywood. There her films brought her salaries of up to $8,000 a week.

During the good days — "Money was falling off trees," she recalled — Miss Kane bought houses, swimming pools and businesses. But the investments went bad and the fortune disappeared.

Only Hope Tech School Gets Open

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Classes at the Red River Vocational Technical School at Hope have begun, but trade schools at Burdette and Searcy were not able to open on schedule, the state Education Department said Monday.

The Foothills Vocational Technical School at Searcy should be open in about two weeks, the department said. Delays in delivery of equipment prevented its opening Monday.

A delay in installation of treated water system will prevent the opening of the Clinton Boll Vocational Technical School at Burdette for at least six weeks, the department said.

The Hope school opened classes in temporary loggings, but the department said its permanent building should soon be ready for occupancy.

Erhard and Johnson to End Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany conclude two days of talks today and fly to Cape Kennedy for a look at the American spaceport.

The four hours of flying also gives them an extra chance to try and resolve Germany's request for a moratorium of four or five years in fully living up to its agreement to purchase $1.35 billion worth of U.S. military goods by mid-1967.

At a state dinner Monday night, Johnson told Erhard he will do "my very best" to visit West Germany next spring "if my other responsibilities will permit," Erhard earlier invited him.

Johnson also said one of those responsibilities — U.S. efforts in Southeast Asia — "can never and will never diminish our concern for the security of Europe and the Atlantic."

The dinner guests included the Gemini 11 astronauts, Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., who were aboard America's most recent manned space shot from Cape Kennedy.

Johnson and Erhard are to visit Cape Kennedy as a follow-up to discussions about American-German cooperation in the peaceful exploration of space.

In talks Monday Johnson and Erhard reportedly reached no agreement on Germany's desire to modify the so-called offset agreement, designed to help compensate the United States for costs of keeping 225,000 American troops in Germany.

Another attempt at solution was to be made today by a top-level working group including Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, for the United States, and Defense Minister Karl-Heinz von Hassel, Minister Without Portfolio Ludger Westrick and State Secretary Karl Carstens for West Germany.

Observers said Erhard did not question his government's obligation to pay the full $1.35 billion, but said it can't afford to pay more than half before the agreement expires June 30, 1967.

The United States contends that the Germans could order $1 billion worth of goods. One American suggestion was that West Germany could buy U.S. Treasury notes to finance the rest.

Move Into White Area Successful

By GENE SCHROEDER
DETROIT (AP) — On the sidewalk in front of his home, 5-year-old Gordon Wright Jr. played ball with a neighborhood friend, also 5.

Inside, Mrs. Wright prepared dinner in the modern kitchen of the two-story red brick Colonial home.

Two other children — Joyce, 7, and Cheryl, 9 — were in nearby Ferry Grammar School.

And the father, A. Gordon Wright, 36, prepared to wind up a busy day at the office so he could join his family in their new $40,000 home at Grosse Pointe Woods, a plush Detroit suburb.

It was a typical family pattern, repeated in thousands of American communities — except for one thing:

The Wrights are the first Negro family to live in the neighborhood.

When they moved in about two months ago, they were the targets of hostility and harassment.

"There were cranks going up and down the street — walking, driving, shouting 'nigger, get out' — and I just couldn't conceive of running into this sort of thing in 1966," said Wright, a regional director of the federal Economic Development Administration and son of a Cleveland millionaire.

All is serene now, Wright said.

"We're being treated with friendliness and courtesy, and our two girls have had no problems in school," he said. "There have been no further incidents."

Other residents of Grosse Pointe Woods agree.

"The Wrights seem to have been accepted as just another new family in the neighborhood," said Circuit Judge Blair Moody Jr., chairman of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

"I'm not suggesting, though, that the problem has been completely resolved," added Moody, who lives about six blocks from the Wrights.

The problem is the fear of some homeowners that property values automatically drop when Negroes move into a neighborhood.

Agent Will Testify in Liuzzo Case

By REX THOMAS
HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An FBI undercover agent was expected to tell for the fourth time today his eyewitness story of the slaying of Viola Liuzzo.

Before red-haired Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. takes the witness stand, however, state and defense attorneys must pick a jury of 12 men to try Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas, 43, of Bessemer, Ala., for the killing of the Detroit, Mich., housewife and civil rights worker.

At least one of the jurors was certain to be a Negro. Only 11 white men were left on the venire with 21 Negroes after preliminary questioning Monday of prospective jurors at the outset of Thomas' trial on a murder charge.

Rowe, a former Birmingham bartender who said he joined the Klan to get information for the FBI, was expected once again to be the prosecution's star witness.

At three earlier trials, two in state court and one before a federal jury, Rowe testified he was in a car with Thomas and two other Klansmen — Collier LeRoy Wilkins and William Orville Eaton — when gunshots fired from the car killed Mrs. Liuzzo, 38.

Rowe said Wilkins, a Fairfield, Ala., auto mechanic took a .38 caliber pistol handed to him by Thomas and fired point blank into Mrs. Liuzzo's car as the four men overtook her on U.S. 80 the night of March 25, 1965. The Detroit woman had taken part in the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

Thomas, Wilkins and Eaton were indicted for murder. Wilkins, whose first trial in state court ended with a deadlocked jury, was finally acquitted. Eaton, also a resident of Fairfield, died of a heart attack before he could be brought to trial on the murder indictment.

However, all three Klansmen were tried in federal court on civil rights conspiracy charges growing out of the Liuzzo killing and each was sentenced to 10 years in prison. Their convictions are on appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Drinks, Stamps Too Successful

BARNESLEY, England (AP) — The Alhambra Tavern has abandoned a project to pass out trading stamps for drinks.

"The rush is too hot for us to handle," Les Simpson, the pub keeper, said Monday.

Simpson started the scheme with a fanfare Sunday, promising one trading stamp for each drink bought — whether a pint of beer or a short whisky.

Indonesia Just Wasted U.S. Rice

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The sweating dockworker sank his hook into the gunny sack of American rice and swung it onto the shoulder of another. He gave a sharp tug to release the hook and rice began spilling from the sack.

The entire dock beside the American freighter glistened with spilled rice, part of $9 million worth the United States government is shipping Indonesia.

Out of the 4,000-ton shipment nearly 1,500 tons of the rice is spilled onto the docks, where it will be swept up and largely kept by the laborers.

The rice was sold to Indonesia technically for dollars — but Indonesia has no money to pay.

The rice and a shipment of cotton worth $10.5 million were steps by the United States to put its foot back inside the previously closed door of Indonesia.

A full-scale aid program, cut off here last year at the peak of Communist-inspired attacks against the United States government, is being considered again for this nation.

Indonesia has 109 million people, based on a 1961 census and a 2.5 per cent annual increase. This and its strategic position in Southeast Asia make it too big to be ignored.

Indonesian marines, with Soviet-made submachine guns under their arms, are guarding the rice as it is unloaded. But they look the other way as workers sweep up hundreds of pounds.

If rice is given by the United States as a grant — which it is expected to do soon — controls will be tighter, American officials say.

American Agency for International Development officials are again setting up offices here and a food for peace team is expected soon.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some season "Bonanza," like the wrangler in its story Sunday night, will find that old age has overtaken it and it will have to step down from its position as the nation's most popular television program. But, from the looks of things, it won't happen this year.

The competition offered by the new Garry Moore show on CBS, one of the season's big disappointments so far, does not loom as much of a threat. And ABC's feature film rerun, shows spotty strength depending on the quality of the movie and the drawing power of its stars.

But, more important, "Bonanza" has developed a reliable format and shrewdly uses its likeable stars who are now old friends of the fans. There is a story each week that has plenty of action and you can tune in late any time and catch up quickly with the plot.

Sunday night's tale was a fine example of the shrewd handling of the whole series. The classic recipe for a good western is to start with a fight and end with a big fight — and just throw problems at the heroes in between. "Bonanza" did just that, starting with a slugging match between Little Joe and a couple of real mean trail hands.

He was saved in the nick of time by an old hand on the Ponderosa who after 50 years just wasn't as good on the trail as he used to be.

NBC's Telephone Hour in its new shape was a documentary filmed at the music festival at Spoleto, Italy, recently, providing an opportunity to tell the story of composer Gian Carlo Menotti, his dream of bringing together fine musicians from both sides of the Atlantic — and to see in some fine music as well. It was a colorful, pleasant hour.

ABC has postponed its "Stage 67," broadcast of an original musical, "Tilpumpus 7-0000," scheduled for Wednesday and will show instead a musical revue called "Where It's At."

Knits Look Best When Simply Cut

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bonded knits are available in pretty colors and some lovely prints. The good qualities are easy to sew and ideal for wearing, especially when the cut is simple. Knitted fabrics do not lend themselves to fussiness.

Choose the simplest pattern possible. Plain seams that have been stretched slightly as you stitch, better still stitched with the shortest zigzag stitch, insure against the stitches breaking.

The costume shown may also be made of flannel, corduroy or lightweight wool. But the fabric used must have enough body to hold its shape.

Trimming should be kept at a minimum.

In the dress shown, a knitted cord is carefully fitted to the edge and whipped to place, then pressed. You can buy this at the trimming counter. Cord gives accent, is easy to apply and gives the "I care" look so desirable in clothes you make for yourself.

The slim one-piece shift dress of this costume requires no lining. Use china silk or a soft satin to line the jacket.

Making this yourself, you can vary the neckline, making it low, square or regular.

You can put pockets in the side seams below the waist if desired.

A real low neck will allow you to make the dress without a zipper, easy to slip over your head.

The jacket gives you a choice of waist or hip length.

There are many ways to dress up the neckline—a scarf—a necklace—a tiny fur collar. The waistline can have a tie belt or a leather or cord one. Make your dress so that it looks as though it came from the smartest boutique in town. Then, indeed, will you feel repaid for your time and abilities.

Big News on Campus

The tilt of a kilt played to a contemporary beat is big news this year on any campus. It's short. It's swingy, with pleats all around or in front only. Without rib-knitting, of course, in your choice of color coordination.

Real Flip on Hip

Sportive ribbon belts are now hitting big height. Colorful stripes are closed with brass-toned rings and, if you're real hip, hang your ribbon-band wrist watch carefully on the hip.

SCRIMSHAW is the name of the art form on display here. It's the art of carving or etching on whalebone and teeth with which whalers whittled away idle hours more than a century ago. The decorated tooth and the whale's jawbone in foreground, both on loan from the museum of The Marine Historical Association at Mystic Seaport, Conn., are included in a whaling exhibition at New York City's Hallmark Gallery.

Fairly Hits Timely for the Dodgers

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ron Fairly made a big hit in his official Busch Memorial Stadium debut, and John Briggs did the same in his latest performance at Connie Mack Stadium.

Reviewing both, the Pittsburgh Pirates thought highly of neither.

Fairly hit a two-run homer his first time up, then added two singles as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis 6-3 Monday night. Briggs, meanwhile, singled home the winning run in Philadelphia's 11-inning, 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The combination increased Los Angeles' National League lead to a commanding 2½ games over Pittsburgh and left the Dodgers in such a position that if they split their last six games the Pirates would have to win all five of theirs for a tie.

"Things are a little better than they were this morning," Dodger Manager Walter Alston said after the game.

Countered Pirate Manager Harry Walker:

"It isn't over yet."

When Fairly homered in the first inning, it marked his first official time at bat in the Cardinals' new park. In his only previous appearance, he walked. He didn't play the rest of the time the Dodgers were there because of torn cartilage in the left side of his rib cage.

The Dodger right fielder didn't stop with the homer, though. He added two singles, drove in another one and scored one more.

Briggs didn't make his entrance at Connie Mack Stadium until the sixth inning when he beat out an infield single as a pinch hitter and eventually scored the run that gave the Phillies a 4-3 lead.

The Pirates tied it, however, and Briggs had to come through with a two-out, run-scoring single in the 11th.

Lemon May Go to the Bosox

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Radio Station KVI said Monday night it had learned from a reliable source that Bob Lemon, manager of the Seattle Angels in the Pacific Coast League, will be offered the position of field manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Lemon, former pitching great for the Cleveland Indians, managed Seattle to the Pacific Coast League pennant this season and to second place in the Western Division of the PCL last season.

Nat'l Loop Down to Final Stage

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League pennant race has reached its critical final week with Pittsburgh leading Los Angeles . . . in pitching aches and pains.

The pitcher-throw Pirates, trailing the Dodgers by 2½ games with five to play will use Bob Veale, Vern Law and Woody Fryman the rest of the way. Of the trio, only Fryman is completely sound physically.

Los Angeles, with six left, has Don Drysdale, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen and the country's No. 1 arthritis patient, Sandy Koufax, set for the stretch drive.

Veale, his back heavily taped, goes for the Pirates tonight against Philadelphia's Larry Jackson. The tall left-hander figures to get his final start of the regular season Saturday against the San Francisco Giants.

Veale wrenched his back last month and has been troubled ever since.

Law, who goes against Jim Bunning Wednesday, also is hurting. He beat Atlanta 8-6 Saturday but didn't finish. He came up sore later.

Law, 36, has won 12 games but missed a month at the start of the season with a pulled rib muscle.

Fryman, opens the final series of the regular season Friday when he faces the Giants at Forbes Field.

The rookie left-hander, who has won 12, will be followed by Veale and Law Saturday and Sunday if the two ailing hurlers can make it. Tommy Sisk, a 10-game winner, looms as the No. 1 replacement. After that it's catch-as-catch-can.

Broyles Gives Recognition to 2 Players

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that center Melvin Gibbs and guard Travis Mauldin played their finest games Saturday when the Porkers turned back Tulsa 27-8.

Broyles also praised the work of split end Tommy Burnett and the blocking of Eddie Woodlee, the Porker fullback.

Arkansas worked out for 30 minutes in sweat clothes Monday and heard a scouting report on Texas Christian.

The seventh-ranked Razorbacks and TCU meet at Fort Worth Saturday night in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams. Arkansas is seeking an unprecedented third straight SWC football title.

"They played two great football teams who were big and strong," said Broyles of the Frogs. "They could have won either one with a big play or a big break."

Meanwhile, at Fort Worth, TCU Coach Abene Martin said it was time for his Frogs to quit talking a good game and begin playing a good game.

"We have been talking a good game since last summer," Martin said. "Talk doesn't win football games."

Martin said, "They are at the crossroads. They can get hully-gully or bear down. Each player has to decide individually what he wants."

The Frogs have lost to Ohio State 14-7 and Nebraska 14-10. Martin said Ohio State was good, but not of the caliber of the Cornhuskers.

"We have not been getting 100 per cent from some of our older players and our young ones have not yet gained the confidence in themselves that they need," Martin said.

But, the veteran TCU coach added, "We are going to battle Arkansas Saturday night. That I guarantee. If we get the full potential from all of them, we can win."

TCU has not whipped Arkansas since 1958 when the Frogs posted a 12-7 victory at Fort Worth. The Porkers have won seven straight.

Porkers Drop to 7 in Ratings

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame's football team is over its tough opening game hurdle and is gaining ground swiftly in the weekly Associated Press college poll.

The Irish made the most rapid advance among the leaders this week, moving from eighth place to fourth on the strength of their 26-14 victory over Purdue.

Michigan State strengthened its lead in the poll, moving 35 points ahead of runner-up UCLA. The Spartans, who led by 10 points a week ago, collected 22 first-place votes and 367 points in the balloting by 40 regional selectors. UCLA had 11 first-place votes and 332 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

The Spartans and UCLA each have 2-0 records, Michigan State after trouncing Penn State 42-8 and the Bruins after defeating Syracuse 31-12 last Saturday.

Alabama, the national champion the past two years, edged Notre Dame for third, the Crimson Tide had 266 points, five more than the Irish. Alabama opened its season with a 34-0 victory over Louisiana Tech.

There also was a close vote for fifth place with Southern California retaining that position with 208 points followed by Nebraska with 203 and Arkansas, 201.

The Trojans whipped Wisconsin 38-3, Nebraska fell two places despite a 28-7 triumph over Utah State while Arkansas, 27-8 winner over Tulsa, slipped one notch to seventh.

Michigan climbed one place to eighth after beating California, 17-7. Georgia Tech and Tennessee replaced Purdue, No. 7, and Baylor, No. 10, among the ranking teams.

Georgia Tech, 2-0, walloped Vanderbilt 42-0 and moved into the ninth spot while Tennessee, which opened its campaign by beating Auburn, 28-0, took over 10th place.

Baylor was beaten by Colorado, 13-7.

NEW YORK (AP) — Weeb Ewbank, boss of the unbeaten New York Jets, is enjoying the best of all possible worlds for a football coach.

American Football League statistics released today show the Jets leading five of the six team categories in offense and defense.

Joe Namath's strong right arm has given New York an average of 232.3 yards per game in the air, 15 more than Houston has averaged on the passing of veteran George Blanda.

Boston, paced by burly Jim Nance, leads the rushing offense with 139.7 yards gained per game along the ground. San Diego is second with 136.

The Jets' total offense shows an average of 357.3 yards per game with Kansas City's 334 good for second place.

On defense, the Jets lead in all categories. New York has allowed just 68 yards per game along the ground and 100.7 through the air. Houston is second in rushing defense with 92

Congress Okays Grid Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's two major professional football leagues lead at halftime in their bid to gain congressional approval of their proposed merger.

But the second half should be as tough as any played by one of their teams on a Sunday afternoon.

The Senate approved Monday a bill that would sanction the combining of the National and American football leagues. The bill was sent to the House, where it will be given to the Judiciary Committee, chaired by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Celler, long a foe of granting special exemptions to antitrust laws, served notice Monday that the bill would not get by the House as easily as it did the Senate.

The sports bill was passed by the Senate Judiciary Committee last week without any hearings and by the full Senate without discussion.

The bill exempts action already taken by the leagues but does not grant them complete future exemption from antitrust action.

"I can't accept a bill as important as that with holding any hearings," said Celler. He refused to act three weeks ago on a Senate-passed measure to completely exempt the merger from antitrust laws. "I can't buy a pig in the poke."

"I feel the Senate acted precipitously in passing the bill without holding any hearings on it and without any discussion on the floor."

Ex-Porker Doing Fine

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Burnett of the Buffalo Bills, a former Arkansas Razorback, is second among American Football League rushers, AFL statistics showed Monday.

Burnett has gained 196 yards on 48 carries for an average of 4.1. He has scored three touchdowns.

Burnett and former Razorback Bobby Crockett have both broken into the Buffalo lineup as rookies.

Syracuse Remembers Big No. 4

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — As long as there's a Syracuse University football team there always will be a number "44."

And, as long as there's a "44," there probably always will be an outstanding player at left halfback for Syracuse.

It has become one of the most coveted sweater numbers in college football. It's a built-in lure for a boy, particularly a Negro boy, who likes to run with the football.

The number now graces the orange jersey of Floyd Little, a 195-pound, bow-legged will o' the wisp from New Haven, Conn., already being boomed for All America honors.

Before that, it was worn by such greats as Jimmy Brown and the late Ernie Davis. It's a sort of manie, to be draped on the shoulders of only the super special.

"I was intent on going to Notre Dame," explains Little, who scored 19 touchdowns as a junior last year. "Then Ernie Davis came to see me. He promised I could wear '44.' That clinched it."

Before Little, Davis, a poor boy from Elmira, N.Y., winner of the Heisman Trophy and later victim of Leukemia, was recruited by Brown.

Besieged by attractive offers from scores of colleges, he chose Syracuse. The deciding factor was the numeral "44."

"It's become a custom," Little, for the Dodgers. That's what the game is all about."

Hope Shooters Dominate Competition

Hope shooters dominated a 3-Club "Shoot" at the Airport Skeet Field Sunday afternoon by taking 7 of 12 individual trophies and the 5-man team event.

James Braden and Charles Gough were co-champions for the top gun with a pair of 49's, Johnny Nix outlasted the field in a 5-man shootoff for the AA winner, with Frank Rowe of the Texarkana Gun Club taking the runnerup award. Anything else would have been an anti-climax after this shoot-off. All five shooters ended with a 48 of 50, in a miss and out situation, only one shooter was eliminated in a regular round of Skeet. The shooters then went to doubles at every station, finally eliminating 2 other shooters.

Then Rowe and Nix went to triples at stations 3, 4, and 5, before Nix finally outlasted Texarkana's top gun. Triples at these stations are about as tough as the game can get.

A. H. Jones won the top award in class A, with John Cox, Wayne Johnson and Bob Higginbotham going into another tough shoot-off for the runnerup. Cox outlasted the other two and took the award.

Harold Douglas was high in Class B, with Pete Waldo as runnerup. John Walker copped the Class C winner's trophy and T. Phillips took the Class D award. Charles Key, Jr. and Reese Chambliss tied for the Class E champion with Key taking first place with the longest run without a miss.

The locals big "plum" was the 5-man team event. The team of James Braden, John Cox, Harold Douglas, John Nix and Charles Gough ended up with a 235 of 250 to top the Maud Gun Club by 7 birds and the Texarkana Gun Club by 11 birds. What really wrapped it up for the locals was the excellent shooting of Douglas and Cox. Both shooters, virtually newcomers to top competitive shooting, outdid themselves to boost the Hope score up to the winning margin. They outshot a big field of longtime top Skeet shooters.

The club deemed the "Shoot" a tremendous success, especially because of the high scores shot by the many newcomers or inexperienced Skeet shooters, such as Harold Douglas, Charles Key, Jr., Reese Chambliss, David Moore, Bill Butler and Mike Monroe.

Phils Take Over Role of Spoilers

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies cast themselves today in the role of spoilers.

"We're going to try to win as many games as we can," said Manager Gene Mauch, "so we can finish as high as possible in the National League standings."

The Phils are in fourth place, two games ahead of Atlanta, and have five left to play — two against the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates and the final three against league-leading Los Angeles.

Philadelphia had to go 11 innings Monday night to edge the Pirates 5-4 with Jim Bunning, in relief, grabbing his 19th win against 12 losses.

Mauch, whose 1964 club blew the pennant after leading the race almost to the last day, says he "understands exactly how the Pirates feel to lose in the last week."

"But I can't worry about them," he said. "We're going to beat them if we can every time we go out. And the same goes for the Dodgers. That's what the game is all about."

Red Barber Is Released

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Barber, a member of the New York Yankees' broadcasting team for the last 13 years, and a nationally known sportscaster has been released from his contract.

Barber, 58, said Monday that he was told a breakfast meeting with Michael Burke, the new head of the Yankees, that his contract would not be renewed for the 1967 season.

It was the first move announced by Burke since he took control of the club last week after the resignation of Dan Topping.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Will Power

When elderly widower Green sat down at the dinner table, he had two unusual companions. At his left sat a favorite cat, and at his right a favorite dog — both with their own portions of food in front of them.

Controversial Congressman

A spellbinder in the pulpit or on a street corner, Powell's apparently unshakable political power base is New York City's Harlem, where he is pastor of the huge Abyssinian Baptist Church.

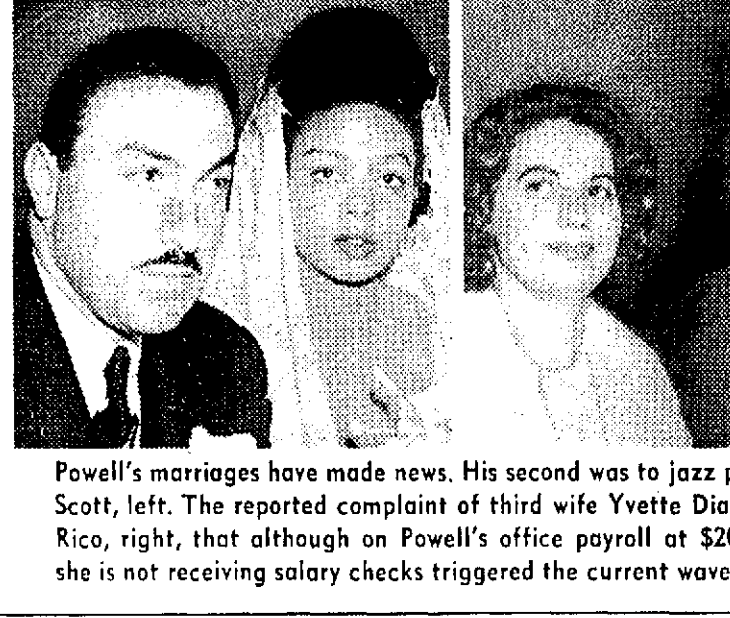

First elected to Congress in 1945, Democrat Powell collided with colleagues in 1956 when he announced support of President Eisenhower's re-election bid. The Democratic caucus later let him off with no more than a verbal slap on the wrist.

Long used to controversy, Harlem's Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is now under double-barreled attack. In Congress, moves are under way to strip him of his powers as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and possibly to investigate his office procedures. Outside, there is a New York State Supreme Court jury trial arising from a libel judgment against him. It adds up to the severest challenge yet in the long career of one of the most flamboyant figures on the American scene.

Beset from several quarters, Powell has shown no signs of giving ground.

Powell's marriages have made news. His second was to jazz pianist Hazel Scott, left. The reported complaint of third wife Yvette Diego of Puerto Rico, right, that although on Powell's office payroll at $20,578 a year she is not receiving salary checks triggered the current wave of criticism.

Another woman in Powell's life is Harlem widow Mrs. Esther James. She won a libel judgment against him but for years Powell avoided payment as successive court rulings raised the figure to more than $160,000.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Relief Can Be Assured, But Allergy Will Endure

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

But the court held the will valid, since Green had otherwise shown normal acumen in managing his affairs.

How much intelligence does the law require, for a person to have "will power"? At the least, he must have a moderate grasp of:

- 1) what he owns;
- 2) what it means to make a will;
- 3) who are "the natural objects of his bounty."

But he need not be free of all eccentricities.

Thus, the mere fact that a person had slovenly habits, or believed in communicating with the dead, or kept counting his money, or would seldom venture outdoors in the daytime—each of these characteristics has been held not serious enough, in itself, to invalidate a will.

Of course, a combination of eccentricities may add up to evidence that the person's mental capacity is inadequate. There is no reason for the law to carry out the commands of a mind that is not even in command of itself.

Furthermore, an eccentricity weighs more heavily against a will if it has a direct and important effect on what the will provides. For instance:

A court rejected the will of a man who believed, among other things, that land he owned—actually worth only $12,000—was worth $4,000,000. The court pointed out that the man's belief not only was baseless but also had markedly affected the way he divided his estate among members of the family.

But when a person has enough basic intelligence, and when his eccentricities are neither too extreme nor too influential, then the law usually lets the will stand. In death, as in life, even a fool has the right to do what he pleases with his own money.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary of Hope Post 427 will meet Tuesday 7:30 at Hicks Funeral Home, and request that all members be present. Reporter, Linda Kay Gamble.

Q—My daughter has eczema. Doctors have tried several remedies but nothing helps. Is it just nerves or can it be cured?

A—Eczema is found in both infants and adults and in some victims it lasts a lifetime but with skillful treatment it can be controlled. The greatest obstacle to successful treatment is difficulty in finding the cause which varies widely in different persons. In many infants the cause is an allergy to milk, eggs or orange juice. When milk is the cause a milk substitute made from soybeans should be used and, when orange juice is the cause, synthetic vitamin C should be given. In any case the offending food must be scrupulously avoided.

A doctor in London has found that sensitivity to gluten (wheat protein) is a frequent cause of eczema and, by eliminating all wheat and wheat products from the diet, he has cured some stubborn cases that had been present for over 20 years.

The next problem in chronic eczema, and most cases become chronic, is to determine how much of the itching eruption is due to the underlying cause, how much is due to overtreatment with creams or lotions to which the victim may be sensitive and how much is due to the inevitable scratching.

Nerves are not a direct cause but the disease may cause nervous tension which increases the scratching thereby setting up a vicious cycle.

THE BORN LOSER

By ART SANSOM

Hot-iron branding of livestock was practiced in Egypt as early as 2000 B.C. In the 16th century Hernando Cortes introduced branding into North America, using three Christian crosses to mark his cattle and horses. Swine breeders identify their animals with ear markings and notchings. In lumbering areas, where logs are transported by floating down rivers, identification marks are applied to logs with branding axes.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Defense Must Win in Minors

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It is rather easy for declarer to look over dummy and decide on a line of play that will bring home his contract. It is much harder for a defender to do the same thing and work out a play to defeat the contract.

The reason lies in that the declarer is looking at 26 cards that he can play as a unit while a defender looks at 13 of his cards and another 13 belonging to an opponent.

Playing today's hand East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and looks the dummy over carefully. He has one trick in hearts but that suit isn't going to bring in anything more. He also expects nothing in trumps. That leaves the minor suits in which to find three tricks, if he expects to keep the rubber going.

He tries to count declarer's distribution and marks him with five spades, two hearts and six cards in the minor suits. It also appears to him that his partner will hold one or two honors in

The View from Gemini

Astronauts Charles Conrad and Richard Gordon, setting new altitude records on their Gemini-11 flight, brought back some of the most spectacular photographs to date of the earth seen from space. Above, with the curve of the horizon giving a vivid impression of the earth as a globe, the Indian subcontinent and Ceylon are clearly visible in a perspective photo looking north from the Gemini capsule, then making a pass 529 miles over the Indian Ocean. Space photography is not yet capable, however, of picking up sufficient detail to show even such large man-made features on earth as India's major cities, located in map at left.

SPACE POWER TOOLS developed for manned space flight include this "zero reaction" hand device that can be fitted with various wrench attachments, screwdriving bits and drilling points. Spacewalker Richard Gordon's program of experiments for the Gemini-11 flight includes attempts to tighten and loosen several bolts with a power wrench to see if astronauts can act as mechanics in space.

Getting Brownie's Breakfast

Not a playful dip but serious business takes the brown Kodiak bear at left into the icy waters of Alaska's McNeill River in the early morning. Breakfast is on his mind and this is the time and the place to get it—the salmon, sleek and fat, are running upstream to spawning grounds where they'll spend the long winter until spring and time to start another generation. Brownie does all right on his breakfast catch, as these pictures by Jim Lee of the federal Bureau of Land Management show.

Brownie gets a good start on breakfast preparations. It could run 10 pounds or better.

It's not all easy going. Brownie has a moment of concern as the catch shows signs of not wanting to stay caught.

But all ends well. Brownie has nice high-protein breakfast to tide him through months of hibernation soon to come.

Notes on an Evil Picture

Y our editor took in one motion picture on his Florida trip — and it was the biggest disaster since the sinking of the Titanic.

I never had seen Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor together in a film, so when Sarasota's South Gate Plaza Theater advertised them in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" I went down to see it with a sister, Mrs. F. M. Gibson. It was the dreariest two hours I have ever spent in a theater.

The story takes place in a single night, but nothing happens. Four people — Burton and Taylor and a younger couple — spend the night hurling profanity at each other and getting drunk. The picture is under-lit, low-keyed as to sound — and is as bankrupt a performance as the movies have ever put up in the way of counter-felt entertainment.

While my sister seemed to get a bang out of my caustic comments as the film unrolled I was trying to analyze what made it such atrociously bad "theater." And then I remembered something.

Back in 1938 while visiting Warner Brothers studio in Burbank, Calif., I saw the shooting of some of the scenes in "Boy Meets Girl," starring James Cagney and Marie Wilson. Naturally I was among those present when the film came to Hope's Saenger Theater — and was monumentally disappointed when it turned out to be so poor that I walked out on it. That memory gave me a clue as to why the Burton-Taylor epic also was a disaster.

Both films were successful stage plays. Both depended more on dialogue than on action. Both had characters standing around on a few sets — in "Woolf" there are only three — talking and not doing much of anything.

You can get away with that in the legitimate theater — but not in a movie house.

I am evaluating a couple of theatrical disasters, not comparing them. There is no comparison. "Boy Meets Girl" was merely an inoffensive "bust" — but "Woolf" is not only a "bust" but also offensive and evil.

Barge Blast
Leaves 2
Men Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A gasoline barge, its hull ripped when it went aground in San Francisco Bay, exploded today, killing two men and leaving three others missing and presumed dead.

Another four men were injured, one critically, when the Standard Oil Co. barge No. 18 went aground near San Francisco Pier 64, while en route from Richmond on the other side of the bay.

The Police Department said Standard Oil tug No. 4 inexplicably lost control of the barge near Pier 62 while nearing its destination during early morning darkness.

Gasoline from a ruptured tank on the barge spilled over bay waters. A deck hand victim said an unexplained flame from the barge touched off the blast.

The Standard Oil employee on the barge and three on the tug all were either dead, missing or injured.

Also missing were two Coast Guardsmen from a patrol boat that was standing by. The patrol boat was burned to the water line and the barge was completely wrecked.

Although ruined, the barge was afire hours later and the Fire Department estimated it contained enough fuel to burn 24 hours.

Listed by police as dead were two Standard Oil employees, Welma L. Wood, 42, and Daniel Curran, 54.

Listed as missing and presumed dead hours after the blast were the tug's skipper, Anthony Autiere, 56, and two unnamed Coast Guardsmen.

Injured are Alfred Whittington, 30, and John C. Gibson, no age, both U.S. Navy from the ship Montrose; Wendell Bush, 25, civilian employee of the Coast Guard; and Lee Nelson, 56, Standard Oil employee, in critical condition.

92 Enemy
Killed in Running Fight

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Infantrymen of the South Korean Tiger Division reported killing 92 Viet Cong today to run the total enemy dead to 300 in five-days of mountain fighting near south Viet Nam's central coast.

While the Tiger Division drove against the Communists in the Phu Cat Mountains, 4,000 more troops of the 9th Korean White Horse Division landed in Viet Nam.

The new arrivals, making up the division's 29th Regiment, raised to 36,500 the Korean force opposing the Communists. Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, only scattered, small ground action was reported. But the U.S. air offensive over North Viet Nam continued and giant B52 bombers again plastered Communist infiltration routes in the demilitarized zone.

U.S. planes attacked oil and supply dumps in North Viet Nam Monday and dropped 500-pound bombs on Communist storage areas in the demilitarized zone.

The eight-engine bombers, flying in from Guam before dawn today also unloaded tons of explosives on North Vietnamese supply dumps inside the buffer zone.

Augmenting these heavy strikes, smaller tactical bombers struck at the western corner of the demilitarized zone. Air Force F4 Phantoms pounded a truck park and an oil dump and pilots reported five secondary explosions and eight fires from their strikes.

Candidates to Run as Write-ins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two men turned down Monday in their bids to seek election to the state legislature as independents said later they would run as write-in candidates.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant turned down three men trying to get on the Nov. 8 election ballot, saying they didn't have enough valid signatures on their petitions.

Dr. John Hoffman of Hot Springs and T. J. Liggett of Swain said they would be write-in candidates if that was the only way they could run. The third, Harold Hallman of Ashdown, said Monday night he "didn't have any plans at this present time."

Hoffman also filed a suit in Pulaski Chancery Court contesting Bryant's decision.

He sought to oppose state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs. Hallman wanted to run for the House seat in District against Rep. Marion Crank and Eugene Holman of De Queen, the Republican nominee.

World Worried That China Is Preparing for a Major War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Is Red China, increasingly isolated from the rest of the world, preparing for a major war?

The turmoil in that vast country and what it might mean to world peace are arousing concern around the world.

The worry is not confined to non-Communist nations. A round of visits by Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev to Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Hungary is widely viewed as indicating anxiety about China's intentions.

The official Yugoslav radio pointed out that Peking "no longer recognizes the Geneva agreements" of 1954 on Viet Nam, on which it had previously insisted doggedly. This, it said, added to a "mistrust of Peking (which) is growing at a time when essential world problems are at stake. How this increases the disquiet is obvious."

Worry is expressed in some quarters that progressive escalation of the Viet Nam war will reach a point where Red China will intervene directly, perhaps out of desperation to prevent negotiations.

What are the chances of Red China risking a big war?

The current uproar in China, the widespread purge, the struggle for power, the wild rampages of the officially inspired Red Guards and the predominance of a military clique provide plenty of cause for anxiety. Domestic Peking broadcasts add to this concern.

Despite all the portents, a note of caution remains. Peking propaganda also underscores Mao's injunction that "the Red army is not only for purposes of fighting a war." It is needed on the home front, notably in production.

There has been a spate of Red Guard attacks on party committees and functionaries. In 20 of China's 27 provinces and in many cities party headquarters have been attacked, leaders humiliated. All this signifies widespread disarray amid a struggle for power. There are reports from many areas of resistance to the cultural revolution, even of fighting.

Would Peking's leaders in such circumstances invite major war? It is always possible desperation could impel a shaky leadership to take enormous risks. On the whole, however, China presents a picture of a nation gripped by violent, foreign-hating nationalism but unprepared to face awesome U.S. power.

Peking's warlike noises seem to stem from official conviction that the United States plans war on China. Evidently it sees the escalation of the Vietnamese war as evidence of this. Peking seems to fear war, but not yet to invite it.

But from all appearances, it will be a long time before the current upheaval has run its course and China's internal situation simmers down.

Vatican to Send Out a
Peace Mission

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A special Vatican mission will leave for South Viet Nam today to help promote peace in that troubled nation.

The Vatican announced that the mission will attend an extraordinary conference to study the problems of the Roman Catholic Church in Viet Nam.

Sources at the Vatican said the mission would undoubtedly seek an agreement to restore peace between the often clashing Buddhist majority and Catholic minority there as a contribution toward the eventual end of all fighting in the country.

There was no disclosure of what other moves the mission might undertake but Vatican contacts described the trip to Viet Nam as of "major importance."

The head of the mission is Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli, apostolic delegate to Canada. The Pope received him in audience this morning.

Chrysler to Drop Part of Price Hike

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. today followed Ford's lead and called off a big chunk of a proposed increase in 1967 auto prices. The twin move was aimed at keeping them more competitive with General Motors prices.

Ford, first of the auto makers to announce a price increase which it said averaged $107 a car, chopped $41 from that amount Monday night just four days before its 1967 cars go on sale.

Chrysler, second to list prices and second to cut back on them, said its new car stickers will average $68 more than 1966 base prices. Originally, Chrysler had announced increases which figured out to $103.

Hurricane Pouring Down
on Islands

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez bore down on the with 100-mile-an-hour fury today and, 1,000 miles in her wake, another tropical blow appeared to be forming.

The 295,000 residents of Guadeloupe, a chain of seven rum, sugar and coffee producing islands at the eastern end of the Caribbean, battened down against an assault of wind and water expected to reach its height in the afternoon.

And, 1,000 miles east of Trinidad near the coast of Venezuela, a new disturbance with circulating winds showed up on the map, moving westward along the historic path of hurricanes coming across the Atlantic from their breeding grounds near Africa.

Small craft hurried into safe harbors through most of the Leeward and Windward Islands French islands of Guadeloupe as Inez approached, pushing up great tides and swells. Guadeloupe is a part of the Leeward chain.

Still fresh in the memory of Guadeloupe residents is Hurricane Cleo, which roared through the French islands in August 1964, killing 14 persons and destroying the banana crops and 1,000 homes before raring on to hit Miami a damaging blow.

The Weather Bureau warned those living in exposed coastal areas to evacuate immediately.

Early today Inez was 70 miles east of Guadeloupe and traveling westward at 12 miles an hour. Beyond, on this track, lay the U. S. Virgin Islands and Juan, the Puerto Rican capital, and 1,400 miles southeast of Miami.

Her top winds increased by 10 miles an hour during a three-hour period early today and forecasters said a further build-up of the storm's power was expected.

Japan Fails in
First Orbit Try

UCHINOURA, Japan (AP) — Japan failed today in its first attempt to orbit an artificial satellite but succeeded in focusing attention on its space and missile program.

Around the country hundreds of thousands stopped work to watch a telecast of the launching from the Tokyo University space center at the southernmost tip of Japan.

No other nation in Asia has come so close to orbiting a satellite. The shot almost succeeded.

The four-stage rocket had a 15.6-pound satellite at its tip. Each of the four stages fired successfully. Japanese scientists said a mechanism designed to stop the last stage from spinning did not function properly. The satellite went off course and presumably burned up on re-entering the atmosphere.

Would Have
Katzenbach
Challenge

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed hope today the State Department would find in Nicholas Katzenbach a challenge — rather than just support — U. S. foreign policy decisions.

Mansfield suggested that's the only way President Johnson can "be assured what he's getting is not all one-sided."

Atty. Gen. Katzenbach has been nominated by Johnson to replace Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, who in the role of devil's advocate was often the questioning skeptic about policy decisions, especially on Viet Nam, and became known as the "Dove of the State Department."

Ball also became something of a favorite with Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and some other critics of U.S. Viet Nam policy.

Katzenbach goes before Fulbright and his committee today for a close examination of his credentials and views on war and peace.

Presumably anticipating a lengthy examination of Katzenbach, the committee delayed until later its hearings on two other State Department nominations — Eugene V. Rostow, former dean of the Yale Law School, as undersecretary for political affairs, and Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to Moscow, as deputy undersecretary.

Fulbright has been less than enthusiastic about the appointments and was surprised at the President's decision to nominate the attorney general to be Secretary of State Dean Rusk's second in command.

There was little doubt, however, that all three nominations would be approved by the Senate.

Mansfield voiced concern in an interview about some of the State Department's swift rejections of proposals floated by countries such as the Soviet Union and France.

Auto Slams Into Ditch, Driver Hurt

An automobile driven by J.D. Roach went out of control on a curve at the Highway 4 - Hazel Street junction yesterday and slammed into a ditch, roach was taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries, believed minor.

The auto was damaged considerably. Investigating Officers Ward and Neal charged Roach with reckless driving.

LBJ to Attend

Try to End WarSays China
Wants Settle
Differences

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's premier and foreign minister were quoted today as insisting their country has wanted to settle differences with the United States but that Washington has not met Peking's proposals.

Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi had long separate talks with a group of Liberal Democratic members of Japan's Parliament earlier this month. Japanese newspapers printed what they said were virtual transcripts of the statements by the Chinese leaders.

They gave this account: Chou said Peking entered the Warsaw talks in 1955 because the Chinese people wanted to become friends with the American people by solving all pending problems between the two governments including Formosa.

Chou said Washington had rebuffed Peking's proposals, which included Communist occupation of Formosa. He indicated, however, that the Warsaw channel was still open.

Chen Yi said he reads 10 American newspapers each day, listens to the Voice of America and watches U.S. trends, but he cannot tell whether the United States intends to invade Red China.

"We are constantly preparing for an American invasion, but we don't know whether America will invade us really or not," he said.

"To tell the truth, America is afraid of China, and China is also a little afraid of America. Whoever becomes president of the United States, I don't think there will be an invasion of present China."

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gordon Wittenberg, 19, of Little Rock, was one of five Trinity College students who apparently escaped serious injury Monday night when a rented plane crashed into the Connecticut River.

A sixth student, Rex Orbell, 23, of Chestnut Hill, Pa., was missing and police were dragging the river for his body. Survivors said Orbell was struck on the head when the plane crashed and was swept away but the current as one of the survivors tried to help him swim to shore.
